

I understand that LPFM stations could impact services that are currently transmitted on FM translator services. One of the services that could be impacted is K-LOVE, a Christian music broadcast. Since K-LOVE is the only station my family and I listen to, and since so much of broadcasting nowadays, both radio and t.v. is unfit for anybody to listen to, the FCC should do everything it can to ensure that broadcasts like K-LOVE remain on the air in every local that it is currently heard in. Having a young son I want to expose him as much as possible to positive, uplifting messages which K-LOVE certainly transmits 24 hours a day. Please do what is right by not allowing LPFM stations to push out what is decent, clean broadcasts that this country and families who are trying to raise children with good, moral values need on a daily basis. Thank you.
